Horror of Premature Burial.

Santa Fe Mexican.
Another case of burial before death was made known in Santa Fe yesterday, or at least evidence of the probable occurrence of that shocking mistake leaked out and reached the reporter's ears. Some time ago this paper published an account of the sudden death of a man named Reed at the Grand Central Hotel, which event was supposed to have been the result of suicide. The body of the man was found in the bed of one of the rooms at 12 o'clock on Sunday night by the clerk of the hotel, who happened to go into the apartment. It was to get appearance lifeless, but there was no sign of violence, and no evidence indicative of the manner in which the supposed dead man came to his end. He had been perfectly well, as far as could be learned, on the day before, and under the circumstances it was concluded that he had committed suicide. The Chief of Police, a physician and two others were called on during the day, and arrived at the same conclusion. Reed had money on his person, although he had had a large amount of it on the Saturday preceding his death, and the county authorities took hold of the matter and had him buried. Four or five days afterwards relatives of the deceased reached Santa Fe, and prepared to disinter the remains and remove them to the east. They procured a metallic coffin, had the body taken up, and on Friday morning laid left for the east with the charge. Yesterday the man employed to take up the coffin told a number of persons that when he done so, and had removed the lid, he was startled and completely unnerved by the sight which met his gaze. The body lying on its side, with the hands drawn up as far as it was possible to get them with the lid of the coffin closed, and the forehead of the deceased was bruised and cut. On the coffin there was blood, as if the deceased had struck his head frequently against the board in a vain effort to push it off. The man who discovered this had himself laid the deceased out, made the coffin, and placed the body in it, and he remembered distinctly that the hands of the corpse were then clasped over the chest, and that when the lid was closed the deceased lay straight on his back. When the friends of the dead man discovered these facts they determined to keep the matter quiet, and left for the east without saying anything about it, and it was not until after they had left that the carpenter who opened the coffin made known his shocking discovery.

A Distinguished Criminal.

The trial of M. and Mme. Friedmann de Friedland for forgery took place in Paris on April 8. Mme. Friedmann is the daughter of Mme. de Persigny, and the great-granddaughter of Marshal Ney and of Lafayette, Louis Philippe's Minister. The crime imputed to her and her husband is that of having forged bills on Mme. de la Moskowa, Mme. Friedmann's grandmother. The sum for which these bills were drawn amounted in all to 180,000 francs, of which 103,000 francs were discounted by Messrs. Rothschild. The defense of Mme. Friedmann was that she was authorized to draw the bills by her grandmother, and M. Friedmann said that he was unaware that the signature was not the Princess's. The accused were both locked up for a time, but on their grandmother's death enabling them to pay off the creditors they were set at liberty. M. de Rothschild, who was called as a witness, explained that he had been on intimate terms with the Duc de Persigny when he was Ambassador in London, and had consequently discounted the bills without a very rigorous examination. The jury found a verdict of "Not guilty."

Judas Banned in Edgely.

MISSION SAN JOSE, Cal., April 18.
A large number of people gathered at the Mission Saturday to witness the time-honored ceremony of burning Judas. Almost the entire Spanish, Mexican, and Indian population of the surrounding country came together this year to participate in this relic of the quaint old ecclesiastical customs. The effigy of the traitor was first hoisted by the neck to a telegraph pole, around which was heaped the plunder that had been gathered during the night. Afterward he was taken down, filled with bombs, decorated with fire-crackers, and burned, while crowds of fellow-sinners of all creeds and complexions, stood by and enjoyed the spectacle.

The English Drink Bill.

The amount of money paid for drink—that is, for beer, wine and spirits—in England last year was more than $600,000,000, and this was nearly $30,000,000 less than the year before. Twenty years ago the sum was about $345,000,000, and in 1876 it reached the enormous total of $736,000,000.

A Loving Joke.
A prominent Physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health and of her inability to cure her "Dry Hop Bitters." "The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, and a while she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient."

THE STAR ROUTES.

There is a belief among well-informed people that there is a good deal of wind in the star route business. It is not at all likely that Brady is a saint, neither is it likely that he has robbed the mail service of the sums that he is now charged with. The practice among mail contractors, probably with Brady's knowledge, has been to have someone put in a bid at a very low figure, probably half, or less, of what it should be. These are straw bidders and the check which accompanies them is usually worthless. If a contract is awarded to one of these straw bidders he turns it over to the stage route, or else refuses to perform the service. In the former case the stage owners try to get the pay raised, and Mr. Brady has proven, willing in all cases, it seems. If the straw bidder throws up his contract he loses a worthless check, which under the rules had to be sent with his bid, and the Department has to make the best terms it can. The stage owners stand ready to take it, and insist on their own price. Now the Postmaster General seems to figure up a loss to the government of the difference between the straw bid and the amount paid to the stage owner. The fallacy of such figuring is apparent at a glance. There are many crooks and turns in the business, but this seems to be the general plan of operations, and the chance for corruption is so large that it ought to be stopped. Still, in the wave of popular virtue which floods the country at such times, there may be important evidence overlooked.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"Gath" says the statue of Farragut is "a great big figure with a great big spiggle." The figure's feet are on a great big block-and-tackle. The old man wears his naval cap, and is to be transmitted to posterity clothed as he was. Though I doubt if he is the same man in the clothes, the spiggle will be all right with posterity. But I doubt the Farragut.

The National Zeitung, Prince Bismark's organ, says that Prince Bismark has decided that the financial interests of Germany lie in the maintenance of the gold standard. The Zeitung also resists the idea of the international monetization of silver currency.

Ben Butler will run for Governor of Massachusetts once more. The widow Butler has only one dissipation and that is gubernatorial.

Both the Albion and Richmond claim to have won under Judge Ring's decision. Albion has depreciated in price.

Dan DeQuille has been pre-vented with a stuffed alligator, and refuses to associate with his old friends. Too high-toned.

Texas is having a smile boom. Lieutenant Governor Adams is there.

Newspaper Development.

The newspaper of the future will be neither a directory of trade nor a blanket sheet. Mr. Dana, of the Sun, who goes to the extreme of condensed journalism, is looking forward to the day when advertisements will be altogether banished from its columns, and when he makes that step he will find plenty of imitators. At the same time the tendency of newspaper development nowadays is against large sheets of numerous pages, which are inconvenient to handle and in which news is not unfrequently like needles in a haystack. The popular newspaper of the time is one which contains all the news in compact form, whose pages are open, which can be easily folded and stored in one's coat pocket, and whose transportation does not require the services of an express wagon and a team of Percheron horses.

And now curious paragraphers want to know why it is that people beat a dog, shoot a hen and slipper round the corner when they see their creditor. We can tell them—it is because the cobbler can't rubber along without customers.

A stone baby has been found at Eureka Springs, Ark. Probably been rooked to death. Philadelphia Bulletin. Stuff. There is Little Rock in Arkansas.—Graphic.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

NEVADA.

Aurora sports one faro game.

The Dayton special school tax is 25 cents on the $100.

The C. & C. R. R. put a third locomotive on the track this week.

An assessment of ten cents has been levied by the Silver City Mining Company.

Willie Kyle was seriously injured in Winnemucca on Friday last by a runaway team.

The farmers of Mason valley are much excited over the appearance of millions of young grasshoppers in that valley.

The Lyon County Times says: The grass in the Como hills is better than for some years as most of the stock has been taken away.

Edward Landy, a brakeman of an engine at the C. & C. shift, fell dead on E street, in Virginia, at half-past 11 o'clock Friday night.

The trouble at Grantsville has been satisfactorily arranged between the miners and the Alexander company. The mines and mill has been started up again with full forces in every department. So says the Revere.

B. H. Carrick, ex-Treasurer of Storey county, says the Carson Appeal, is very much depressed, owing to the decision of the Supreme Court refusing to grant him a new trial; not so much on his own account as for his family's sake.

A rich strike was made Wednesday in the Tomb mine at Galena, and some exceedingly rich ore has been taken out. The ledge is large and well defined, and Mr. Blossom, who recently purchased the property, has undoubtedly a very fine mine.

The Battle Mountain Messenger says: The boring of Crum's artesian well has proved very successful, and at a depth of 220 feet a splendid stream of flowing water has been struck. The well is now one of the best in this part of the country, and proves that the sinking of artesian wells here is a success.

The Esmeralda Herald says: S. Sever and John Chiatovich, have sold to Samuel Talman, the Centennial, Rattlesnake and Gold Sing mines, situated in Gold Mountain district, and about nine miles east of the State Line mine, in this county. The price paid was $12,500.

CALIFORNIA.

Charles Elliot of Nord was thrown from a wagon lately and badly hurt.

At San Luis Obispo, a heavy shock of earthquake occurred Friday morning at 15 minutes to 6.

The body of E. M. Gline was found in Santa Rosa Creek, near Santa Rosa May 5th. The coroner's jury Friday morning returned a verdict of suicide by strangulation and chloroform. Gline was a native of New Hampshire aged 59 years.

Robert Cook, a Marysville tailor was missing Friday, and it is supposed that he committed suicide by jumping into the river, as a coat, hat, shoes and memorandum books, which have been recognized as belonging to him, were found on Yuba River bridge. Cook is a German, about 31 years of age, and unmarried. It is thought unrequited love prompted the rash act.

A dispatch from Hanford Friday night says: Deputy Dunlap brought with him railroad wagons, teams and hands, to aid in removing the household goods of settlers whom they propose to dispossess. They bring ten writs of ejectment, including one for Major McQuiddy. As Bowen, the noted railroad detective, is also here. Altogether the Marshall's party consists of some fifteen or twenty men, as far as known. The wagons and teams are at Lemoore, though the Marshalls and several of their assistants stopped here. Late this afternoon they went to Lemoore, saying they will return here to-morrow. It cannot yet be learned who is to be placed in possession.

TERRITORIES.

Miners are becoming scarce in Utah camps.

According to accounts from Southern Utah, 1,000 men are employed on the Sevier Valley railroad.

Alfred Nelson, aged 9 years, was drowned in Gray's Bay, W. T. on the 3d. The body was soon recovered.

So many men are engaged on the railroad building in Utah that farmers fear that their crops will suffer for want of sufficient help to properly attend them.

The first number of a 28-column daily paper called the Herald, published at Ogden, Utah, has been issued. It is issued every evening, except Sunday, by the Ogden Herald Publishing Company.

The Alta Mining Co.'s works at Wickes, Montana, were burned on Saturday. Loss, $250,000. Two hundred men are thrown out of employment. The smelter was capable of turning out seven tons of base bullion per day.

The Grand Jury of Deer Lodge has indicted ten Mormons, including two Bishops, for unlawfully voting in Montana for Delegate to Congress. One hundred Mormons, residing in Idaho and Utah, are said to have voted for the Democratic candidate in Montana.

OREGON.

Coyotes have killed hundreds of sheep in the northern part of Washington county during the past winter.

The dwelling house of George Schultz, near Monroe, in Benton county, was totally destroyed by fire on the 4th instant.

The Alaska installment of pupils for the Indian School at Forest Grove consists of nine boys and one girl. They are comfortably settled in their new quarters.

Miss Carrie Embree, of Dallas, Polk county, aged 70 years, was thrown from a wagon May 5th and very seriously injured. Her recovery is deemed doubtful.

May 5th a man whose name could not be ascertained, employed at the Occident Packing Company, on the Lower Columbia, was knocked overboard from a fishing-boat and was drowned.

A young man named Oscar Miller son of August Miller, living near Stayton, Marion county, was drowned on the 5th instant in the Santiam. He was paddling around in a small skiff when he capsized.

Emigration's Swelling Tide.

New York Star.

Castle Garden presented an extraordinary scene yesterday, there being no less than 6,000 congregated within and in the vicinity of the building. The number of arrivals was larger than it had been for any one day since 1863. The steamer Ethiopia brought 1,101 Silesia 1,446, Hasburg 1,415, Alsatia 422, and City of New York 1,311. In addition to the above, there was a steamer at Quarantine with from 800 to 1,000 passengers on board. Three out of four of the new arrivals are Germans, who intend taking the evening trains for the west. The agents of the railroad companies said that extra cars would be put on to convey the vast throng of emigrants to their destination.

There was a young man in Oakland Who wanted to join a brass band, So he bought him a tuba; The neighbors were few, b Ut determined—the funeral was grand.

There was a young man in Laconia Who feared he had the pneumonia, So he ruined his clothes And blistered his nose By dosing himself with ammonia. There is a policeman in Reno Who is unostentatious, but keen; O. T. Brown is his name, And he's well known to fame, A-s-and—oh, my good gracious merino!

Three gentlemen stopping at a tavern bore the names of More, Strange and Wright. Said the last, "There is but one rascal in this company, and that is Strange." "Yes," answered Strange "there is one More." "Aye," said More, "that's Wright."

D. Wheeler, one of the subscribers to said capital stock, who has been named and appointed by us as Treasurer to receive the same; and being desirous of forming a corporation under the provisions of the Act of the Legislature of the State of Nevada, entitled "An Act to provide for the incorporation of railroad companies and the management of the affairs thereof and other matters relating thereto," approved March 23, 1865, and all Acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, do hereby at a meeting of said subscribers held in pursuance of a notice in writing given by said Treasurer to said subscribers, adopt the following:

Wetly Lacey.

Chas. Knust had just paid for the placing of a hydrant in front of his store. Last night some hoodlums or worse unscrewed the pipe below the sidewalk and carried off the hydrant. The water was running all night into Knust's cellar.

THE TRAVELING CASH.

How Petty Thieves Work the Railroad Toward and Pass for Innocent Tramps.

J. P. Foulkes, of Verdi, thinks he has hit upon the way traveling thieves manage to get away with the swag, and yet have nothing on their persons. After the recent robbery in Verdi four men took breakfast together at a house near Verdi. They were all acquainted and their breakfast was paid for. Two of these men had been in Verdi and were suspected and subsequently arrested. The other two were not seen in Verdi nor could they be found after they were seen at Masten's. Foulkes says that the thing is done by means of what he calls "a traveling Cash." These men never allow themselves to be seen at the point where the theft is to be committed. The "Cash" travels respectfully and has money. At the time when the deed is committed the cash receives the proceeds and goes to some agreed point, and the thieves submit quietly to arrest in fact cover it in order to show that they have no stolen property and are merely poor men in search of work. The "Cash" meantime travels to some unsuspected points, converts the goods into money and is ready to divide when the run is finished. In this way thieves play the tramp for a season and have something handsome to rusticate on after the season's labor.

From E. B. Giles the GAZETTE learns that an expert representing the Sierra Nevada Mining Company visited the Miller district and bonded the Hornet and Gray Eagle mines. Mr. Harrison, the expert, sent some samples below and his assays were very satisfactory, the lowest reaching $140. Messrs. Murphy, Gleason, Clark, Martin and others are interested in the Cottonwood district which is situated in the same range with the Miller mines. The Hornet was bonded for $9,000 and the Gray Eagle for $2,500. A road has been completed to the Cottonwood mines and the owners are developing the mines as fast as possible. Three shifts of men will soon be put to work on the leading mine.

Antelope.

Captain Griffin reports everything going well with the Antelope mine and mill. The water tunnel 160 feet in length has been completed and the connection made. 1,200 feet of pipe is used to conduct the water. In the mine the ore-act from the 150 feet level is in about 25 feet. Every foot of ground about the mine is owned and a tunnel has been run on an extension to the Antelope a length of 200 feet. Griffin is finishing his house and Ed. Dickey is building a dwelling for his family at the mine.

Cut by a Fall.

James Gulling, a brakeman, on the passenger train between Truckee and Winnemucca jumped to get on the west-bound train Friday before it stopped at Winnemucca. There was a passenger on the platform, and when Gulling saw him he drew back, missing the step and fell on the side of the track. He was badly bruised on the nose and face and had one of his lips cut. Dr. Huntington sewed up the cut and dressed the other wounds, which are not serious.

POLICE COURT.

Daniel Comes to Judgment—McLaughlin Cutlerizes and B. Idget Wallace runs a Muck.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Bridget Wallace having looked upon the beer while it was stale in the glass decided to take the alley which she proceeded to do like an army with banners. Her triumphal march had proceeded well and she had chained several doves to her chariot wheels, as it were, when John Hoy rudely disturbed the revelry. Being unable to take the lady to jail he obtained assistance and with a plentiful use of the nippers Constable Avery succeeded in anchoring her. To-day in the Police Court she demanded a jury of her peers and the tragedy will come off to-morrow at 11 A. M.

In the Police Court to-day, Daniel Brown was arraigned for selling Lager to Lo. Mr. Brown is a local violinist of some note, and is melodiously indignant at the vile accusation. Mr. Brown could not make his innocence appear to the Court, and another Daniel will come to Judgment this evening at 6 o'clock.

W. A. McLaughlin was also put upon his defense for having several penknives in his possession without a bill of sale from J. J. Quinn, the lawful owner. McLaughlin regarded the arrest as a high-handed outrage because he had purchased the cutlery from an entire stranger, for a considerable sum of money. The Judge referred to his docket and discovered that Mac was sentenced on April 7th to thirty days for a similar indiscretion, and concluded to invite McLaughlin to attend the Brown levee at 6 P. M. this evening.

Shooting at Cedarville.

Concerning the shooting of Carter, in Cedarville, by Symonds, the blacksmith, the GAZETTE learns that the parties were brothers-in-law. There had been family difficulties between them for some time past, and it is said that Carter had threatened Symonds. On the day of the shooting Carter went into the blacksmith shop and began to abuse Symonds. Symonds replied that he did not care what Carter said, but he must not lay hands upon him. Carter said: "You—, if I want to, I'll lay hands on you," and with that he grabbed Symonds by the arm, and the latter commenced shooting. The first shot struck Carter in the stomach, the second in the region of the heart, the third in the shoulder, and the fourth entered the eye and came out at the ear. Symonds immediately gave himself up to Long, Justice of the Peace. Deputy Sheriff John Cannon was to have taken Symonds to Alturas on Friday last.

He Wanted Plenty, or None.

"Here you," said a Carson man to the GAZETTE foreman, "Got any bill-headers?"

"Finest in the world," said the polite foreman, "new type, combination ornaments, etc., etc."

"Alright, I want some; got a hell's mint o' bills to make out, and ain't much on ritin'. Get me up a dozen right away—and say, hold on," he yelled, as the foreman rushed into the office to execute the contract. "I want some cards too. I'm starting a branch house, and I want to scatter 'em all around. You'd better get me up a couple o' dozen cards I guess; want plenty, or none. I'm from Carson, and when I get an 'advertizin' streak on, I'm very stylish, I tell you."

Hopper Notes.

From Mayberry's ranch comes the news that some fatal epidemic has broken out among the grasshoppers, and they are dying by the thousands. Pat Kelley brought to this office on Saturday, a common weed with a yellow blossom, which seems to be death on the hopper. The weeds were covered with remains of defunct hoppers, and Kelley thinks that it disagrees with them. He will experiment on the subject and report. The weed in question is not hurtful to horses or cattle. Anyone who desires to inspect it can do so at this office.

A CARSON COLUMN.

What will the Tar-and-Feather Brigade do About It?

Sam Davis in the Appeal of Sunday says:

"Yesterday afternoon Louis Grubson was tried before Justice Cary on the charge of breaking into a house near the railroad track and taking various articles of household furniture. 'It appears that you took about everything in sight,' said the Court sternly.

'Do you think me wholly depraved, your Honor,' said the prisoner with tears starting to his eyes. 'I left a fine red-hot stove, worth at least twenty-five dollars.'

'Where are you from, my good man?' asked his Honor, kindly. 'Reno,' replied the man, reluctantly.

The Court was buried in thought, and then, leaning over the desk, said: 'Shirriff, release the prisoner. A man from Reno who would decline to take a red-hot stove, when he had such a good show, is not, in my opinion, wholly bad. Considering his associations, I think he deserves much credit.'

'Let him go,' shouted the spectators, throwing up their hats, and the man was taken out of Court on the shoulders of the crowd. Later in the day, when slightly inebriated, he acknowledged that he had only lived in Reno six months, and his popularity waned.

Skating Carnival.

Manager Tucker advertizes a grand skating and skating carnival to take place on May 18th at the Pavilion. He has secured the best band in the State and every arrangement will be made to close the skating season in an appropriate and enjoyable manner. The skating will commence at 8:30 and continue till 9:30 when those desiring to skate for prizes will be allowed the floor. After this general skating will be resumed until 11 o'clock when dancing will be commenced and continued until everybody is satisfied. Prizes will be given to the best skater of each sex that has learned during the season, also to the best sustained and the best dressed characters. No children will be allowed on the floor with skates. The spectators will be allowed to join in the dancing.

General admission, with use of skates has been fixed at $1. Spectators 50 cts. There is still ample time for the preparation of original costumes and the GAZETTE looks forward to the skating carnival as a social event which will be very enjoyable.

Western Wood and Plume Company.

On Saturday articles of incorporation of the above company were filed with the County Clerk, and this morning the necessary papers were forwarded to the Secretary of State's office at Carson. The company incorporates with a capital stock of $50,000 divided into 5,000 cords. The GAZETTE is informed that the company will commence the building of a flume, from some point on the south side of the river, in Reno, to some unknown point near Truckee. It is said that the new flume will reach 300,000 feet of timber and 5,000,000 cords of wood.

Wouldn't Have It.

"What's wrong with you Sensen-dorffer," said Judge Young, "Somebody must have hit you with a blacksmith shop. Why you're all caved in and stove up. You look like an abandoned slaughter-house. I'm ashamed of you."

"Well, 'hudge, I tell you how it was. He want to take my big casino wit de mine o' spades, an I wouldn't haf it."

The New Brewery.

The Pacific Brewery is completed and in running order. Ruhlstailler began to brew to-day and finds everything about the institution as handy as a pocket in a shirt. There are rumors that George Becker proposes to set up the first brew as a sample and a special train is talked of by the newspaper men of Carson.

Next.

Fred Sickels is the next happy man. He has company at the Sickels House, and a history of the little episode will be found under "born." Fred says it's the "finest boy he ever had, such a good child, seems to have sense, etc." To hear the father talk you would think the son weighed 180 pounds, and had a head like a Roman Senator.
